DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-14 are allowed.

Drawings

2. New formal drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in this application because claims are now allowed.

Reasons for Allowance

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The closest prior art of record issued to Fong and Abrol fails to teach or suggest a communication system comprising at least two wireless service areas and the establishing of plural communications channels via a common RF link between a mobile node and a network controlling element having an interface to a respective data network gateway, wherein the connection is arranged between the mobile node and the network controlling element at a second service area, with a first of the plural channels being arranged for connection to the data network gateway interface for that second service area and a second of the plural channels being arranged for connection, via the communication path maintained between the first service area and the second service area to the, to the data network gateway interface for the first service area as cited in claims 1 and 14.

In other words, the invention provides a solution to the problem of data loss occurring at such a transfer of the data communications link from a first to a second wireless service area, and does so using the existing MN architecture and consistent with current standards. In particular, the Applicants recognized that an MN can maintain plural communication paths using the Radio Link Protocol (RLP), and that this capability can be advantageously applied to provide data connectivity from an MN to multiple service areas. Using that RLP capability, the Applicants devised a new network interface that can be implemented at a service-area network controlling element to permit the MN to maintain separate RLP instances (channels) with (1) network controlling element for the service-area to which the MN is moving and (2) with the network controlling element in the initial service area. Thus, with the network interface of the invention, the MN is thereby able to maintain simultaneous connections with both the PDSN associated with the initial service area and with the PDSN for the service area to which it is moving.

Art Unit: 2685

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Dynarski et al. (PTO 892 attached) disclose wireless mobile communication systems related to dynamic allocation of mobile nodes.
